DR. CHING FUNG, CHINESE DOCTOR
STANDARD:—Through the medium of Your paper I want to state the very great good that has been done me by Dr. Ching Fung of this city, next door Kwong Lee Yuen. For 21 years I suffered with asthmatic bronchitis, which baffled the skill of three first-class American physicians. Latterly bronchitis attacked my right lung, and my expectoration visibly inflamed. Despairing of cure I longer, and proceed myself as a last resort to the hands of Dr. Ching Fung, and after five months treatment I am a well man and feel that I cannot sound the eminent Chinese gentleman's praises too loudly, so that all my countrymen similarly affected may visit and find relief. Whither are They Drifting.

It is very many years since the peace of England has been disturbed to any alarming extent by internal dissension. Since the great revolution which cost King Charles the First his head and made Cromwell the chief of the realm and the greatest man in Europe, there has been no uprising of the English people which either aimed at or led to any fundamental change in the constitution of the country. The constitutional change which had its origin in the deposition of James the Second and the placing of William the Third on the throne in his stead, whereby the monarch for the time being was placed in such a position that he could do no harm, for the reason that he was bound to administer public affairs by and with the advice of his Executive Council, who were chosen from among the representatives of the people, and could only hold office so long as they could command a majority in the popular branch of the Legislature, obviated the necessity of the people taking the law into their own hands, as they did prior to the establishment of responsible government. The question was then settled that whatever Divine rights Kings possessed, were subject to public approval and parliamentary endorsation. It is therefore most improbable that any occasion will ever again arise in England in which a repetition of the scenes of 1688 will be re-enacted Nevertheless, that a revolution is impending in England, fraught with momentous consequences to the nation, cannot but be apparent to everyone who reads with ordinary care the events that are transpiring in the British Isles. That revolution is not so much a political as a social one. It is a contest between capital and labor, affluence and poverty, abundance and want, the owners of the soil and those who till it. The labor question is one of far greater magnitude to the people of Great Britain than the Alabama Claims or the San Juan dispute, or both put together. There was a time when men were content to labor and toil and suffer on a pittance barely sufficient to keep body and soul together, satisfied if at the end of a life of drudgery they could find a resting-place this side the grave in the workhouse as a State pauper. That time has gone by. The present is an age of progress, inquiry, and enlightenment. By the aid of steam and electricity knowledge runs to and fro in the earth, and men are no longer content to work twelve hours a day for ten shillings a week, while those who employ them reap a profit from their labor equal to three times the amount they receive as a reward for their exertions. They claim, and not unjustly, a larger share of the profits the employer derives from their hard earnings, and this is the secret of the great moral and industrial revolution now being waged between employers and employed in almost every department of manufactures, including also the agricultural class, throughout the length and breadth of the British Isles. Probably the most unfortunate class of the British laboring population is that devoted to agricultural pursuits, for the reason that they are at once the poorest paid and the least able to stand out for what they conceive to be their just due against the oppressive exactions of their employers. They have, however, following the example of those engaged in other industrial pursuits, in large numbers "laid down the shovel and the hoe," and refuse to take them up again unless their employers consent to a reasonable increase in the rate of their weekly wage. Some of the employers, acknowledging the justice of the demand, have yielded a ready compliance; others peremptorily declined Among the latter class is the great Duke of Marlborough, one of the most wealthy English nobles, who in a letter describes his poor dependents as "agitators and declaimers," and informs them that instead of increasing their miserable pittance, if they dare to ask such a boon, they shall be expelled from their holdings and be left with the alternative of entering the Union or tramping over the country with wives and babies in winter-time in search of work. Commenting on this cruel edict of the noble Duke, the London Spectator says: "Let our readers just picture to themselves the facts. John Hodge, the ditcher, has 10s. a week, for twelve hours work a day, and by the aid of his forty poles and his cheap cottage, and his extra £4 at harvest, contrives to keep his strength at about half power, to feed his wife, clothe his children, pay his sick club, and get along somehow through manhood until the Union receives him, to live through old age in a barrack upon gruel. Suddenly, in the midst of a time of unprecedented prosperity he finds bread dearer, bacon much dearer, and meat hopelessly unattainable, and inspired by what he hears, he asks for a little more. For that offence, committed every day by every kind of State employee, a great Duke, lord of all that Hodge knows as his country, a Being only to be approached with awe and reverence, suddenly stretches out his hand in wrath, and tells him that the only two alleviations of his lot—his cheap cottage and his rood of land—shall be held at the mercy of the farmer, of the man with whom he is contesting the right to live, of the man who has every interest a man can have in grinding him to the ground. If he resists, he and his poor sticks shall be thrown out to find shelter where they may, provided it is not within miles of the only place he knows." What better are such men than slaves? The same writer says: "Every one who has watched the progress of the laborers' agitation is aware that as the year draws on the struggle between masters and men tends to become more bitter, and may before February threaten the public peace." There is a remedy for this labor agitation in England, and that is a system of emigration that will relieve the overstocked labor market, and unless the British Government be "wise in time," the upshot of the struggle now going on between employers and employed, between those who own the soil and those who till it, may be of a much more serious character than such men as the Duke of Marlborough have any conception of.

(Before A. F. Pemberton, S. M.)

TUESDAY, October 15th.

James Osborne, on remand, charged with supplying liquor to Indians, was convicted and fined $250, to be levied by distress; in default six months imprisonment.

Lucy, an Indian, for destroying property of Tommy, an Indian, was discharged.

James Brown, on remand, charged with stealing a watch from John Otto, was further remanded for three days.

THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT ECONOMISING.—The Government at Ottawa would seem to have taken a leaf from the B. C. Provincial Government as will be seen from the subjoined taken from an Ottawa journal: "It is reported that a disposition on the part of heads of Departments to tighten the reins of discipline on their subordinates, with a view of economising the expenses of some branches of the public service, has created a good deal of dismay among a certain class of the Civil Service. Some gentlemen who have evinced a patriotic earnestness in drawing their salaries in the country's defence about once a month, and a corresponding inclination to "put in the shortest possible number of days per month at their desks, are rather checkmated on finding that "time is money," and that recently every lost day has caused the fair proportions of their monetary compensation to be proportionately "docked." Some who have really been absented from sickness feel rather chagrined, while those who "shammed Abraham," are utterly disgusted and disappointed. The movement is one which will meet with approbation on all sides, and we trust the departmental managers will continue to exercise the same argus-eyed vigilance in the future. The people are taxed to pay these gentlemen to do their work, and not to spend their time in idleness."

A SECOND SAN JUAN AFFAIR.—The San Juan dispute is not yet absolutely settled, yet already a difficulty is suggested as to the nationality of another island on the United States border. The Duluth Herald says:—"Our attention has been called to a matter to which it would be well for the American portion of the Boundary Commissioners to pay some attention. It is this: Under the Treaty of Ghent, the line dividing the two countries is laid down as following certain direct water-courses; but, under what is known as the Ashburton Treaty, this was not faithfully done. What is at present known as Hunter's Island—a strip of valuable mineral land, about as large as the State of Delaware—has, under the latter treaty, been claimed as British territory, but unjustly so, for the direct, uninterrupted water-course lies north of this island, and not south as was generally believed. The water-course to the south, and which is now looked upon as the line, is an interrupted one, whilst that to the north of it is perfect, without a break. Old explorers, who have been over the ground repeatedly, have given us this information, and we make it public for the benefit of those who will shortly be engaged in laying down the boundary line between the two nations."

THOROUGHBRED STOCK.—British Columbia farmers and breeders of stock are commencing to interest the importation of thoroughbred stock for the improvement of their herds and flocks. Dr. Tolmie of Cloverdale farm, Victoria District, returned yesterday in the California from Oregon, having purchased, and brought with him a splendid young bull, and for the following relative to the pedigree of the animal we are indebted to the importer: "Central Pacific," sired in England by the Roan bull Bismarck, formerly the property of S. G. Reed, Portland, Or. Roan.—Calved November 10th, 1871, on the cars of the Central Pacific Railway, hence his name. Bred by S. G. Reed, Portland, Ogn. Took first prize for bull calves at the Oregon State Fair, 1872, held at Salem. Dam imported in 1871 by the celebrated breeder and importer, Cochrane of Compton, Quebec, Canada.

FURTHER CONCERNING THE RUMOR OF CHANGES IN THE DOMINION CABINET.—The following, which we clip from the Halifax Reporter of a late date, appears to be very conclusive upon the above:—"Notwithstanding," as our telegraphic correspondent says, "rumors and statements to the contrary," it is probable that both Sir George E. Cartier and Sir Francis Hincks will retire from the Cabinet. The Montreal Witness of Tuesday last contains the following paragraphs:—Sir G. E. Cartier, the member elect for Provencher, Man., received an ovation at Ottawa yesterday evening. In replying to an address he put the best possible face on his Montreal defeat, and announced the retirement of Sir F. Hincks and another Minister from Ontario, from the Cabinet. Hon. Mr. Tilley, the present Minister of Customs, is mentioned as Sir F. Hincks' probable successor in the Ministry of Finance.

FROM NANAIMO.—The Maude came into port last evening from Nanaimo and Cowichan settlements, bringing a mail, a fat ox, butter and other farm stuff; also the following passengers: Rev. Mr. Reynard, Mr. Dunsmuir, Jr., J. E. Boske, W. Wilson, W. Manuel, Mrs. and Miss Joes, Mrs. Bushart, two Chinamen and two Indians. The Powhattan finished loading her cargo of coal on Monday night, and is ready for sea. The concert given in connection with Rev. Mr. Reynard's church was in every respect a success; the largest audience ever brought out in Nanaimo, was present.

COUNTY COURT CASE.—Jackson vs. King.—This was an action for $85, the alleged value of a cow, which plaintiff, a colored man of the extraordinary age of 111 years, maintained was in possession of defendant, and was plaintiff's property. Several witnesses were examined, and the cow in question was produced also, but the evidence of Jackson failed, and a verdict was given for the defendant. It appeared the animal had passed through the hands of several owners before it became King's property, and a cow answering the description of Jackson's is in some place in the district.

AUCTION OF A RESIDENCE AND FURNITURE.—The public are advised of an opportunity to purchase to-day at Davies' auction rooms, a five roomed house and grounds, orchard, furniture of the residence, including a Kirkman piano, etc., etc. The property is that owned by Captain Gardiner, James Bay, who is about to leave with his family for South America.

FOR MAPLE BAY DUNCAN.—The Maude, under charter to Mr. Bonster to take visitors to the Cowichan Agricultural Show, will leave this morning from the Hudson Bay wharf, at 7 sharp. Tickets for lady and gentleman, $1 50. A band of music will accompany the excursionists.

SAN JUAN BOUNDARY.—The decision of the Emperor of Germany with reference to the San Juan boundary matters may soon be looked for. It is said that there is presentiment in Washington official circles that the decision will be adverse. Some of the leading papers are preparing things so as to let the American people down easy should the verdict be against them, and one of the leading New York journals says—"It is not of such vast consequence after all whether the little bit of territory in dispute be adjudged to belong to the United States or to Great Britain." Possibly it is right, but hitherto the Americans have made a great deal of consequence about it. A few weks ago our telegraphic despatches announced that the American garrison of the Island was being withdrawn, but that fact we regard as of very little consequence, for both nations are quite prepared to abide by the decision of Kaiser William.—Toronto Mail.

SALT LAKE NEWS.—SALT LAKE, Oct. 9.—The Mormon Conference is still in session, the attendance is large. Brigham Young Jr., spoke against the Saints, followed by Nathan Dod, who predicted that the growing habits of the young men would eventually result in their leaving the Church. Apostle Smith spoke endorsing the celestial marriage system. Brigham Young was elected Prophet, Seer and Revelator unanimously. The other officers of the Church, generally, were re-elected. Thirteen missionaries were appointed for Europe and Ierland Brigham urged the necessity of paying tithing.

THE TOWN COUNCIL.—All accounts due by the City Council are called for; and all taxes due the corporation must be paid to the clerk or collector, before that a person otherwise qualified to vote for Mayor or Councillor, will be allowed to vote. It is said it will be difficult to find gentlemen at the forthcoming election who will be willing to enter the Corporation.

THE NEW WESTMINSTER SMALL-POX CASES. A rumor having been in Victoria for a day or two past that the small-pox was spreading in New Westminster, "His Worship" telegraphed to the President of the N. W. Town Council, and an answer was received yesterday that there were but two cases, already reported, and that they were recovering. It was also believed that all danger was past.

THE RACE ROCKS LIGHTHOUSE.—The lamp of the Race Rocks Lighthouse is out of trim; immediately on the arrival of the Douglas from Nanaimo this afternoon, she will proceed to the lighthouse and bring the lamp to town to be repaired, this will take about two days. A fixed white light will be shown from the lighthouse until the lamp is replaced.

FOR THE EAST COAST.—The Sir James Douglas left at seven o'clock, yesterday morning, for Nanaimo and way ports with a few passengers, a fair freight, and four head of cattle. Among the passengers were Mrs and Miss Lindsay, Dr Powell, H. F. Heisterman, H Marriner, and Capt. McKinnon. The Douglas will return this afternoon.

SAILED.—H. M. S. Scylla, Captain Boxer, sailed for England yesterday forenoon. On Monday the time expired men of H. M. ships Boxer and Sparrowhawk were drafted into her for passage home. As the ship steamed out of the harbor the yards of H. M. S. Scout were manned, and three cheers given to their homeward bound comrades.

DANGEROUS.—Our attention has been directed to a dangerous sidewalk in Commercial Row, Wharf street, and opposite to the Hudson Bay wharf. The agent of the property, we are informed, refuses to do anything towards removing the obstruction. Let the Corporation see to it before a serious accident shall have occurred.

MEMORANDA STEAMER CALIFORNIA.—Left Portland October 10 at 6 p. m.; crossed the Columbia river bar Oct. 11, at 3 p. m.; entered the Straits of Fuca Oct. 12, at 8 a. m.; arrived at Port Townsend same day at 7 p. m.; proceeded up Sound to Olympia, and arrived at Victoria Oct. 15 at 7 p. m.

THE LIME TRADE.—Mr. N. C. Bayley, owner of the San Juan lime kiln, yesterday bought the fine schooner Mystery, from Mr. Robinson of the Sound. Mr. Bayley intends to use her in carrying lime from the kiln, San Juan, to this port. Captain Dwyer, late of the Alarm, will run her.

FROM PORTLAND.—The steamer California, Captain Hayes, arrived at 7 p. m. yesterday from Portland via Puget Sound. She has 95 tons of cargo for this port, which will be discharged to-day. To-morrow she will leave for Bellingham Bay to load stone for Portland.

THE CONDEMNED MAN.—It is still uncertain when or where, the condemned man Bell, will be executed; or whether the execution will be in public or otherwise. Bell is indifferent in any or every way, but says he prefers death to imprisonment for life.

BREACH OF PROMISE CASE.—A case of breach of promise to marry has, we are glad to learn, been settled without coming into court. The aggrieved party has accepted $1,500 in satisfaction of all demands. The case had been pending for considerable time.

FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE HOSPITAL.—The proceeds over and above the charter of the Maude for Cowichan, with the concurrent expense of the band, &c., will be donated to the funds of the Royal Hospital. Praiseworthy.

FOR PORT TOWNSEND.—The steamer Isabel will leave for Port Townsend this evening at 5 o'clock. She will connect with the North Pacific from the up-Sound ports and bring the mails and passengers over to this port.

FOR THE MAINLAND.—The Enterprise left at 9 o'clock, yesterday morning, for New Westminster, with the following passengers: Mrs. McBride, Mr. and Mrs. Herring, Messrs. Walsh, Ferris, Major, and Arnaud.

THE WEEKLY STANDARD is ready this morning for mailing to foreign parts. Orders will be received at the office, or of any of our agents, a list of which is published on first page of the paper.

FOR NEW WESTMINSTER.—The steamer Fly left for New Westminster last evening; she was chartered by Mr. E. Brown to convey his goods ex-Naworth to their destination.

FORT STREET.—Workmen are at work improving this street, by metalling and removing the rocks which protrude above ground.

SAILED.—The U. S. sloop of war St. Marys was towed to sea by H.M.S. Scylla yesterday morning.

FOR THE SOUND.—The North Pacific sailed at 10 o'clock, yesterday morning, for Olympia.

Sir Francis Hincks and British Columbia.

(From the Ottawa Times.)

The Globe speaks of the "lowest depth of humiliation being reached" by the election of Sir Francis Hincks for Vancouver. The organ, as we all know, has singular tastes, and what it may consider a humiliation most people would regard as an honor. The electors of Vancouver are far removed from the reach of those influences which are exercised in Ontario. The Dominion Government cannot, if they were disposed to do so, do anything in the way of coaxing them, and, fortunately for them, the people of British Columbia have not been missed and deceived by one long systematic course of journalistic falsehoods as a majority of the electors of South Brant have been. Removed as they are far beyond the reach of Grit misrepresentation and the influence of those personal and sectional prejudices which have proved a curse to us here, the people of the Pacific provinces are enabled to take a clearer and more dispassionate view of the political position than we can do. They have watched the action of the Dominion Government for the past five years with a critical eye. They have seen that the Administration of Sir John Macdonald has been a successful one, that the men who compose it have been animated by patriotic motives. And what have been the natural results? First, that the people of British Columbia were willing to cast their lot with ours, which under different circumstances they would not have been. Secondly, that, desirous as they are to show their respect and esteem for the Government, and especially for a member of it who has done very much to promote the financial prosperity of the country, they have elected Sir Francis Hincks, for one of their most important constituencies, by a unanimous vote. To be thus elected by men who have no knowledge of Sir Francis Hincks save in his public and official capacity; who have no personal prejudices or feelings to gratify in selecting him as their member; to be thus chosen by a free and independent body of electors the Globe calls a "humiliation." We imagine there are not many persons who will hold the same opinion.

In whatever way we look upon it, however, we fancy that a "lower depth of humiliation" might very easily be reached, and we cannot help thinking that it has been reached by the Hon. George Brown himself.

It is certainly less humiliating to be elected for a constituency even in British Columbia, the province of which the Globe speaks so contemptuously, than not to be elected at all. It is better to be the unanimously chosen representative even of British Columbian electors, than after wandering about the Province of Ontario to find a constituency and finally spending $20,000 in buying votes, to fail and be compelled to retire into "private life." What about the rejected of South Ontario in 1867? What of Mr. Brown, who after vainly endeavoring to purchase that constituency, celebrated his defeat by a display of rowdyism at the railway station, and has since subsided into the closet approximating to a Billing-gate fish wife that ever disgraced political life in Canada? In spite of all his pretended desire to retire from "public life," how charmed he would be if some benighted British Columbians or any other set of men, would "humiliate" him as they have Sir Francis Hincks. If, by giving rein for a moment to a wild flight of Fancy, we endeavour to imagine that Mr. Brown had been elected by acclamation anywhere, we may form some faint conception of the pean of triumph that would have been raised by the Globe. How gladly the "great obstructionist" would wallow in the "lowest depth of humiliation," but there is no danger of his being "humiliated" in the same way.

In the course of the same article to which we have referred, it is asserted that Riel has retired in favor of Sir George Cartier in Manitoba. It is intimated that the honourable baronet has "sunk so low as to be the recipient of a favor from the Fort Garry bandit." This is a falsehood. Riel has not retired in favor of Sir George Cartier nor has the latter consented to run for a Manitoba constituency, although we believe he has been requested to do so.

In this connection we may remark that the Grit journals have wilfully misrepresented facts in relation to Riel's candidature. Mr. Attorney General Clarke is the Government candidate, and Riel, being bitterly hostile to the Dominion Cabinet, would, if elected, no doubt take his seat beside Mr. Mackenzie.

Something About Mnemonics.

PORT LUDLOW, W. T., Oct. 10th, 1872.

EDITOR STANDARD:—Knowing that you make the advocacy of the interests of education a feature of the papers under your charge, I make bold herewith to offer you another of my compositions in such line.

The term "Mnemonics" is derived from Greek, and is accepted in the meaning of a science, and respectively art the aim of which is the demonstration of proper, and in especial manner the most proper way of impressing into memory.

To effect this task, it is natural first to investigate the process or processes by which we can succeed in impressing into memory, next to deduce from this investigation the principles which control these processes, and finally to find in the foundation of these principles, and point out the means by which the tasks of study by memory may at once be most properly entered upon.

It cannot but be forthwith obvious that a knowledge of the kind in question will be of an utmost value for such as undertake studying by memory without the aid of a competent instructor, while, as far as instructors in sciences are, themselves, concerned, it cannot but appear as a vital part of their proper preparation; and it will, therefore, be admitted that such a knowledge ought to be acquired as soon as the mind is sufficiently strengthened for the enterprise, and by all who intend to pursue studies lying beyond the rudiments of the elementary branches. But what does the reality of facts shows?

An astonishing disregard, if not a total neglect of study in this line, and on the part of a great number of even such as employ themselves in "teaching," and not merely in regard to points referring to the subject and contained in treatises or oral information (which may, in particular, be obtained from exhibitions of teaching by qualified instructors,) but even by omitting to reflect to an adequate extent in their own minds, that is, without undergoing the effort to investigate views in this respect as laid down by others.

Mnemonics, it seems, has to pass through stages similar to those which it had been the fate of chemistry to overcome. As the latter had been disregarded, if not absolutely despised, in the first times of her infancy, and principally on account of such as attempted to make her a handmaid for their vanity and greediness (to wit, of the alchemists;) so it went with Mnemonics through the vanity of such as attempted to set up artificial ways of their own notion, that is without following the indications given by the nature of the human mind, and its constitution for the reception of knowledge; ways by which, as they proclaimed, impressions into memory could be effected both easily and so as to endure for any length of time; ways, however, instead of leading to the disquisition, and hence, to an extensive knowledge of a given subject, and thereby, rendering it more attainable, appearing rather calculated to divert from it, and, instead of rendering the task of memory easier, making the same more complicate by encumbering the learner with matter altogether foreign to the subject under his view.

No wonder, therefore, that the doctrines of such trumpeters could not stand the test of application, but instead of this, generated in a number, the although precarious assumption that Mnemonics were merely a product of the imagination, without foundation in reality.

It cannot be the intent of this transitory jotting to present a detail of the science under view; a few points of it may, however prove not only interesting, but perhaps also advantageous, as occasioning reflection in the matter, and in consequence thereof, some valuable point of knowledge.

The leading principle of Mnemonics as now introduced is: "We cannot impress anything into memory except by connecting to something already extant in the same."

It follows herefrom that the means extended by Mnemonics as now recognised can consist only in matter adapted to establish such connections.

Such ties are in general:—(a) the thorough understanding of the subject; (b) the knowledge of its origin (cause, occasion;) (c) a knowledge of as many of its properties as it may be possible and suitable to learn at the time; (d) an acquaintance with its relations to other subjects; (e) comparisons of it to other matter; (f) a knowledge of its necessary and speculations on its possible effect or consequences; (g) in particular of its direct bearing on ourselves; and (h) peculiarities appearning at transfers of the subject or of some of its properties into different relations, or at a substitution of the same by other matter.

The requisite of brevity for publication in the present manner seems to permit only one illustration of Mnemonical treatment in the way here referred to.

Let us take as an example the sentence: "The surface of the earth presents nearly three times as much of water as it does of land."

To extend the aid of Mnemonics in this case, it will be the teacher's first task to provide for a full understanding of the given contents on the part of his pupils, or at least, to get assured that they possess already such an understanding.

A next thing for the cited end would be to point out the agencies under which the earth came to be laid out in the cited way, or to refer at least, to the circumstances from which we had to presume the said state of the earth, or, at least, the preponderance of its water-surface, even if we were not enabled to know of it by other means. (so, at least, to pupils sufficiently developed to follow in representations of this kind.)

A further point would be to dwell on the relative amounts of solid and liquid matter as apparent on the earth in general; to refer to the specific weight of water as compared to that of earthy matter; to show that it be but a consequence of the greater heft of the latter, that wherever it is dissolved in water, it will become heavier than this by the stronger adhesion of its particles, and, therefore, settle to the bottom of the reservoir; that the earth would, therefore, be liable to get in course of time, altogether covered by water, if it were not for some force counteracting this.

To this he had to join remarks concerning the consequences of the cited relation, (the broad water surface as a means for evaporation, and in further consequence, of furnishing material for raining, feeding springs, fertilizing land, etc.,) and in particular, to refer to the consequences affecting us immediately (such as the comparatively convenient and ready means to visit distant countries and of a reduction of dangers in sea storms, etc.)

To impress the cited relation of water and land surface as stated by numbers, the teacher might finally recommend to his pupils to combine with the thought of this relation the peculiar coincidence that "water" begins by a letter with three main down strokes, while the first letter of land has only a single such one, etc.

This illustration, it may have been observed, presents also the features of "bject-teaching," a mode, therefore, exhibiting itself as nothing else than one of the features of mnemonical teaching.

In presenting the above illustration, the writer does not mean to intimate that a course as described therein is to be pursued in any and all cases. It must, much more, even rest with the judgment of the teacher which points and how many of them he has to elicit, or, if need be, immediately to allege in a given case; a judgment to be formed with a view to the quality of the subject, and with respect to the individualities of the pupils.

It may, furthermore, be found out from the given illustration that the more a thing is taken into consideration, the easier it will become for the memory to take hold of and retain it; and that the objection sometimes made against completeness in teaching as entailing too much work on the student is ungatory to the degree of even revetting to the very contrary.

Some time since we mentioned that changes might probably be expected in the Dominion Cabinet, to be necessitated by the appointment of Hon. Jos. Howe to be Lieut. Governor of Nova Scotia, and the retirement of Sir F. Hincks from public life, or in any case by his "retirement" from Ontario and these probabilities were extensively circulated and commented upon by the press. Shortly after, the Citizen announced that it was "authorized" to contradict those statements, the "authoritative" contradiction being copied by the Mail and other organs. We have reasons to believe that our anticipations were correct, and and likely to be realized at no distant day. Even the usually slow-going "organs" seem to be waking up to a perception of this fact, and we find the following "feeler" in yesterday's Ottawa correspondence of the Mail: "A rumor prevails that Hon. Joseph Howe will succeed Sir Hastings Doyle as Lieutenant Governor of Nova Scotia. The appointment, it is said, would be a popular one." Our readers will only have to wait, and watch the progress of events, and they will see our predictions realized in spite of "authorized" contradictions, or "organic" spleen at not being first in the field with the news.—Ottawa Free Press, Sept. 27th.

MARAVILLA COCOA.—NO BREAKFAST TABLE IS COMPLETE WITHOUT THIS DELICIOUS BEVERAGE.—The Globe says, "Various importers and manufactors have attempted to attain a reputation for their prepared Cocoas, but we doubt whether any thorough success has been achieved until Messrs. Taylor Brothers dicovered the extraordinary qualities of Maravilla' Cocoa. Adapting their perfect system of preparation to this finest of all species of the Theobroma, they have produced an article which supersedes every other Cocoa in the market. Entire solubility, a delicate aroma, and a rare concentration of the purest elements of nutrition, distinguish the Maravilla Cocoa above all others. For homœopaths and invalids we could not recommend a more agreeable or valuable beverage." Sold in packets only by all Grocers, of whom also may be had Taylor Brothers' Original Homœopathic Cocoa and Soluble Chocolate Steam Mills—Brick Lane, London. Expert Chicory Mills, Bruges, Belgium.

J. C. TRACEY.

PROVINCIAL SECRETARY'S OFFICE,
October, 9th, 1872.

THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR directs the following extract from a report addressed to the Provincial Government, by T. A. Bulkley, Esq., Chief Engineer, upon the comparative advantages offered by "Lang Cove" and "Thetis Cove," as alternative sites for the proposed graving Dock at Esquimalt, to be published for the information of the public generally.

By Command.

A. ROCKE ROBERTSON,
Provincial Secretary.

"In originally selecting Thetis Cove, I was entirely unbiassed. I was aware that "Constance (or more accurately "Lang") Cove" had been mentioned, though I did not know it had been so strongly recommended as I have since ascertained was the case. And I still hold to my opinion as to "Thetis Cove" being THE Site, as regards economy and facility of construction, and as being more sheltered and, consequently, easier of access.

Being anxious, however, to place before Government something more than my own bare opinion in this matter, and acting upon a suggestion of His Excellency the Governor, I beg to submit a comparative statement of the cost of Dock in alternative site.

Now, although the cost of actual construction of the Graving Dock itself may be assumed as the same in either place, there are several variable items in connection with the work which will considerably affect the total cost.

Among these the following are the most important Viz:—

1. "Cofferdam," or the cost of excluding Sea Waters during construction.
2. "Excavation for foundations."
3. "Purchase of necessary Land."

Wherever the Dock is located, in order to make it complete, it will be necessary to fill in round the sides and back, to, at least, 3 feet above high water. We have, therefore,
4. "Reclamation round Dock."

Arranged in the shaped of a Debtor and Creditor account the comparative cost will be as follows:

DOCK IN "LANG COVE."

Dr. COFFERDAM.		Cr. VALUE OF MATERIALS
Length 800 feet Mean Depth 35 feet, Estimated Cost	$40,320 00	of Cofferdam after completion say 10 per cent. of cost	$ 4,000 00
Excavation for Foundation—mean depth 13 feet, area, say, 4,000 sq. yds—17,333 c. yds. at $1	17,333 00	Value of Land purchased 10 acres, reclaimed 14 acres, total 24 acres at increased value, say $2,000	48,000 00
Land Purchase 10 acres at $1,600	16,000 00		$52,000 00
Reclamation round Dock—Area 15 acres, mean depth 14 feet deducting area of Dock, & material from excavation, we have 300,000 c. yds. including getting wading hauling, tipping levelling and settlement: at (at least) 50cts.	150,000 00	Debtor Balance	171,853 00
	$223,853 00		$223,853 00

DOCK IN "THETIS COVE."

Dr. COFFERDAM.		Cr. VALUE OF MATERIALS
Length 410 feet mean depth 35 feet estimated cost	$22,140 00	of Cofferdam after completion say 10 per cent. of cost	$ 2,200 00
Excavation for foundation mean depth 19 feet, area 4,000 sq. yds. 25,333 c. yds., of this 24,000 c. yds ordy. $1	24,000 00	Value of Land purchased 8 acres, reclaimed 2¼ acres. Total 10¼ at $2000	20,500 00
1,333 c. yds. rock at $5	6,665 00		$22,700 00
Land purchased 8 acres at $1600	12,800 00
Reclamation round Dock—area 3¼ acres mean depth 19½ feet deducting area of Dock & material from excavation, we have 23,417 c. yds at 50 cents	16,708 00	Debtor Balance	59,613 00
	$82,313 00		$82,313 00

Debtor Balance against Lang Cove	$171,853 00
do. do. Thetis Cove	59,613 00
		$112,240 00

Showing a balance against "Lang Cove," and in favor of "Thetis Cove," of over one hundred and twelve thousand dollars, ($112,000).

In addition to the above I might bring yet other items as against "Lang Cove." Viz:—

"Cost of extra length of Face Wall."

"Cost of probable extra pumping during progress of works, owing to increased area of surface, and greater length of Cofferdam for leakage."

Saving at "Thetis Cove" in obtaining puddle for Cofferdam from the inshore excavation for Dock.

But I think I have already made out a sufficiently strong case in favor of my recommendation, and I trust it may meet the approval of Government." oc10dw
